

DANIELS EXONERATED OF GURLEY KILLING

Evidence Before Coroner's Jury Shows He Fired At Irvine Officer in Self Defense

At the coroner's inquest over the body of Chief of Police Gurley at Irvine Monday morning, Harry Daniels, who shot him to death, was exonerated on the grounds that he had done so in self-defense, according to word brought here from Irvine by several Richmond men who were there at the time.

They say that the testimony introduced before the coroner's jury showed plainly that Gurley was drunk. Several Richmond men said Monday they saw him drunk here Sunday afternoon.

It seemed that for some reason or other Gurley wanted to arrest Daniels. The latter went with him to the police station, but remonstrated with him for the arrest. Daniels told Gurley that he had done nothing to be arrested for, and besought him not to do so.

However, Gurley was determined to do so, it seemed, and when the two got into the station house, Gurley pulled out his gun and threatened to kill Daniels. The latter told the officer he had done nothing to be shot for, but seeing that Gurley was going to fire anyway, he grabbed his hand containing the gun and wrenched it away from him.

No sooner, however, had he taken the pistol from Gurley than the officer reached with his other hand for another pistol and drew it on Daniels. Then Daniels shot and killed Gurley. He shot the officer two times, one bullet striking him in the head and the other in the neck.

EASTERN HAS HARD GAME WEDNESDAY

Eastern's basketball five will have Cumberland College as their next opponents at the Madison gym Wednesday night at 7:30. The locals have a tough nut to crack when they go up against the Cumberland five. Cumberland has not lost a game this season. It is a very fast team, but will have its hands full when it faces Eastern. Among Cumberland's victims is the University of Louisville, defeated last week by a 30 to 19 score.

Eastern will endeavor to get on the winning side again Wednesday, as they lost their only game of the season Saturday before last to Union College. One thing in favor of the maroon and white team is that they have never lost a game on the home floor this season and are going to fight hard not to lose before the local fans, having already put over three victories on strong teams before Richmond's basketball admirers.

Eastern's team will be intact against Cumberland. No man on the squad is suffering with injury and Coach Hembree reports that his team is ready for the invaders. Clark and Byrd will start at forwards for Eastern, with Stephenson at center and Combs and Maimous at guards.

Clark and Byrd are two steady performers at the forward positions for Mentor Hembree. He has instilled a fighting spirit in these two men that is hard to beat. They are both fine shot at the basket and pass well. In manufacturing points these men will be helped at center by Stephenson, the tall lad, who has played that position so well up to this time. He is not through playing well, by any means, and is sure to put up a great game for Eastern Wednesday night.

Eastern plays again here next Saturday with her ancient rival, Western State Normal. This will also be a fine game. The game Wednesday starts at 7:30. Admission 35c.

MONSTROUS QUAKE SOMEWHERE IN SOUTH

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Jan. 31—An earth quake of the greatest intensity, probably 2,000 miles south of here, was registered early today on the Georgetown University seismograph. The quake began at 8:25 a. m., and ten minutes later, the tremors threw the registering needles off of the scale. It also registered at the weather bureau where officials described it as "monstrous."

LOSES FINGER IN FALL FROM CLIFF

Moses Hill, an aged farmer of the College Hill section, fell down a cliff while cutting brush Tuesday morning and broke the third finger on his right hand. It was so badly mangled that Dr. O. F. Hume had to amputate it close to the hand. Some years ago Mr. Hill had this finger and the little finger on the same hand badly mangled.

NORMAN WINKLER SERIOUSLY STABBED

Norman Winkler, well known young man of the eastern section of the city, is at a hospital with a knife stab wound in a lung, close to his heart, which he says was inflicted by Jesse Cain at an early hour Tuesday morning. Police are hunting for Cain but have not been able to find him.

Winkler and his father, Sid Winkler, say that Cain, together with George and Clay Hopper, were with Norman Winkler when the trouble began. The Winklers claim that after Norman had been stabbed, the others dragged him toward the freight depot, threatening that they were going to kill him. Police say that the elder Winkler ran for a butcher knife, which he obtained, and that Clay Hopper told him if he would give him the knife he would make the other boys let Norman alone. He did so, and the wounded man was brought to the hospital in a serious condition, the physicians say.

JACKSON CO. MEN WORK FOR ROAD

A delegation of prominent citizens and officials of Jackson county passed through Richmond Tuesday enroute to Frankfort. They go to see what can be done toward securing state aid for the proposed good road between Richmond and McKee and on to Manchester, Clay county. In the delegation were County Judge C. P. Moore, Magistrates Hurst and County Agent W. R. Reynolds. Madison county has already requested the State Road Department to make a survey of this road and to take all steps possible to hurry the work so that there may be some opportunity of pressing the claims and needs of this highway during the coming year. The Jackson people and officials are enthusiastic for the road and will cooperate in every way possible.

Wicker's Bill To Exempt One Dog To Family Favored—House Kills Pass Bill

(By Associated Press)
Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 31—"Old Ring" was given a fighting chance to escape taxation today after a sharp battle in the House. The House Committee on Agriculture reported six bills, exempting one dog to the family but with the opinion they should not pass. When the sixth bill, that of J. B. Wicker, of Knott county, was reported he succeeded in having it read into the calendar by a vote of 60 to 39.

The minimum wage commission bill was given its first reading in the Senate today after a motion, which probably would have killed it, failed of passage by four votes. The vote was on a motion to indefinitely postpone it. The bill was reported earlier in the day "without expression of opinion."

Bryce Cundiff, who was seated as representative from the Breathitt-Lee district, when Jas. H. Johnson was unseated last Friday, was sworn in.

House bill No. 85, introduced by W. T. Watkins, of Jefferson county, regulating illiterate, blind and disabled voters, was favorably reported by the committee on suffrage and elections.

A bill providing for a State constabulary was introduced in the house by Arch L. Hamilton, of Lexington.

B. C. Beckman's bill relating to elections in first class cities and abolishing party emblems was favorably reported by the suffrage and election committee.

F. L. Strange's bill to regulate and enforce liens on gas, oil and mineral lands, was favorably reported by the committee on public roads and highways.

Representative Frank J. Humbert is ill at his home at Louisville and Representative J. L. Richardson is at home on account of the illness of his daughter.

The house education committee No. 1 favorably reported Lee Clark's bill placing a poll tax of $1 for schools on each male voter over 21 years old.

Mrs. Lavinia Cunningham Wants Women Protected

Mrs. Lavinia Estell Chenault Cunningham, of Paris, has had a bill drafted by an attorney which she will present to the present session of the Kentucky Legislature, providing for the appointment of a state attorney to "protect widows, orphans and weak people from fraudulent courts and attorneys." The draft of the bill is as follows: "Be it enacted by the Legislature of the Kentucky General Assembly that a conscientious attorney be appointed as 'State Guardian' to protect widows, orphans and weak people, with a state salary, as New York state now has, from fraudulent courts and attorneys."

JOE BOGGS EXPLAINS ROAD BOND SYSTEM

Madison's State Engineer Tells How Roads Can Be Handled With No Increase Taxes

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 31—Prominently in the minds of those who are considering the advisability of Kentucky voting a $50,000,000 bond issue with which to construct in a five-year period the primary road system of the state is the question of how those roads are going to be properly maintained during the life of the bond issue, while part of the revenues collected for road purposes is going into the sinking fund by which the bonds are to be retired.

To show how this can be done, State Highway Commissioner J. S. Boggs, at the request of the Kentucky Good Roads Association, has given some detailed explanation. His statement follows: "The primary system of the state roads which, when completed, will put every county seat of Kentucky on at least two fine highways, has a total length of 14,000 miles and one of the most important problems in connection with this proposed construction is proper maintenance of these roads after they are built. A careful detailed estimate of this cost has been made by the State Highway Department in order to ascertain whether or not there will be money enough for this purpose without any further increase in taxation after a sufficient sum has been set aside for interest and sinking fund purposes to take care of the proposed bond issue.

"Of the 4,000 miles of road embraced in the primary system it is planned that 1,500 miles will be either a high grade asphalt or a reinforced concrete construction and the remaining 2,500 miles will be secondary road well built of macadam or gravel, with surface treatment by a bituminous oil over almost all of it.

"Based upon present revenues and without counting on any increase in them from an increased use of motor vehicles and gasoline and placing federal aid at $1,400,000 per annum there will be $4,500,000 accruing annually to the road fund. Deducting $3,000,000 a year for sinking fund and interest there is left $1,500,000 annually for maintenance.

"During the construction period, or first five years, this will, it is believed, amount to very little. On that portion of the 2,500 miles of secondary road finished during the earlier part of the five years' construction period, there will be some maintenance, though not enough to be of very serious consideration. However, a more regular provision must be made for maintenance of both classes of roads between the fifth and tenth years.

"During this period the concrete or asphalt roads will require about $100 a mile a year. A considerable part of the work at this time is the preservation of good drainage by keeping the ditches open. Maintenance of the concrete and asphalt will therefore be at this time surface treated two or probably three times. This will consist of an oil treatment and cold patching where necessary. Some ditch work will also be required and the total cost a mile a year will be about $600 of $1,500,000 a year for the whole work. So maintenance of both classes of road aggregated annually during the period from the fifth to the tenth year, $1,650,000 or $8,250,000 for the whole time.

"The period between the tenth and fifteenth year will increase the maintenance on the concrete and asphalt roads to $200 a mile a year. This is necessary in order to take care of small holes which experience shows will by that time begin to appear in their surfaces and to keep ditches open. Maintenance of the 2,500 miles for this period must be increased from $600 to $800 a mile a year. Besides surface treatment and care of drainage some new material will be required. For this period, therefore, maintenance will be at the rate of $2,300,000 per annum, or $11,500,000 for the five years.

"In the period between the 15th and 20th years the rate of normal cost of maintaining the road system indefinitely should be established. It is estimated that the

GO AFTER 'SHINERS IN ROCKCASTLE

Prohibition raiders and officers have been busy in Rockcastle county lately. Last week Prohibition Officer Beckner, of London, and the sheriff destroyed a still on Negro Creek, consisting of a complete 100 gallon outfit.

Sheriff Dave Clark, deputy sheriff J. W. Mink and Judge Can Mullins in a raid broke up two stills in the Crooked Creek section near the Salt Peter cave, one of 40 gallon and the other of 30 gallon capacity.

In circuit court at Mt. Vernon Oscar Croner, Simmie Purcell, Hobe Hansel and Elmer Mize were each fined $10 for drunkenness and the latter three were held over to the grand jury under bond of $100 to tell where they procured their liquor.

Roscoe Mullins was tried on the same day and held to the grand jury on a charge of selling whisky. Bob Mize was tried on January 24th on the same charge and held to the grand jury.

F. S. Myers and Vic Mullins were each fined $20 and five days in jail and George Herald and Solie Alcorn were fined $15 and 5 days in jail by a jury. An appeal was taken. John C. Childers and Charley Childers, of the Crooked Creek section, who were under bond for appearance on the charge of selling whisky, forfeited their bond and judgment was taken against them.

annual charge against the concrete and asphalt roads will be at $300 a mile a year, while that against the macadam and gravel roads will remain at about $800 a mile a year. During the five-year period this will mean a cost of $12,250,000 for upkeep of the entire system. As this same cost will, it is believed, continue indefinitely this rate per annum should be allowed for maintenance during the last ten years of the life of the bond issue. Therefore maintenance for the first 20 years of the life of the bond issue in tabular form is as follows:

Fifth to tenth year	$8,250,000
Tenth to 15th year	11,500,000
15th to 20th year	12,250,000
Total	$33,000,000

"Against this $33,000,000 there will, even if there is no natural increase in these revenues, come into the road fund during this period of 20 years, $30,000,000. From experience in growth of the use of automobile traffic of both Kentucky and other states the increase in these revenues, without any increase in the rate of taxation will much more than take care of any excess of future maintenance costs over present rate, in which these revenues are received. This same statement holds good regarding the maintenance charges between the 20th and 30th years of the life of the bond issue.

"The sinking fund provision contemplates the sale of the bonds at 5 per cent, but best financial advice is to the effect that these bonds can be placed at par at 4 1/2 per cent. Furthermore, only 3 per cent is allowed on sinking fund investments, when there is good reason to believe that 3 1/2 per cent can be secured. These two savings could be carried into the maintenance fund and together with the increased revenues from the greater use of automobiles and consumption of gasoline would raise that found to a figure considerably beyond the normal requirements for maintenance.

"Some test to the correctness of the estimated maintenance charges can be secured by consideration of what the department has spent this way during the last year and a half. There were 467 miles of road taken over by the department for strictly maintenance purposes. There was also an additional 22 miles charged to maintenance, but this was really construction work done by main-

ALLEGED 'SHINERS PUT UNDER $1,000 BONDS

All But One Give Bail After Being Held Over To February Grand Jury

Examining trial was waived before County Judge John D. Goodloe, by all of the men captured by Sheriff Deatherage and his deputies on their moonshine raids late last week. Judge Goodloe fixed the bond in each case at $1,000 for appearance of the men before the Madison circuit court next week.

William White, who was captured with a still near White's Station, was unable to give bond immediately. He told the Judge if allowed to go home he would be able to find a bondsman, but the Judge told him to hunt it over the phone from jail.

George Sparks gave his $1,000 bond with Marshall Miller, Leonard Sparks and Robert Alcorn as sureties. Bond furnished by Bert Lunsford was signed by Giles Hunter, Carl Lunsford and William Lynch. Winston Coyle gave his bond signed by Alex Parrish and George Sparks. These three defendants were captured on the rail near Bear-wallow when the big still was taken.

There were seven men seen working at the still or standing nearby while it was running according to the officers who made the raid. As there were but four officers in the posse, they remained hidden until two of the men had gone. As the other five started away, the officers sought to arrest them. Two ran and made good their escape. Sparks, Lunsford and Coyle were captured and brought in. They flatly refused to tell the names of their companions at the still.

The officers say that the 32 barrels of mash which were poured out were buried in pits near the still. Over each barrel were planks, and on top of this, sawdust and leaves. Several of the officers stepped into the middle of the barrel pits and had close calls from falling into them.

None of the four men above named had secured counsel when brought before Judge Goodloe. All waived examining trial, however, and were held over to the grand jury.

tenance crews. Of the 467 miles in question 125 miles were new road. The rest was old road in varying degrees of repair which the department had decided to accept from county authorities and being in sufficiently good condition to justify state maintenance. A very large part of it required the maximum expenditure for this purpose which the department would allow. There was, of course, substantially no cost of maintenance for the new road. However considering the entire 467 miles together as being under maintenance the average was $600 a mile for the year and one-half from July 1, 1920, to January 1, 1922.

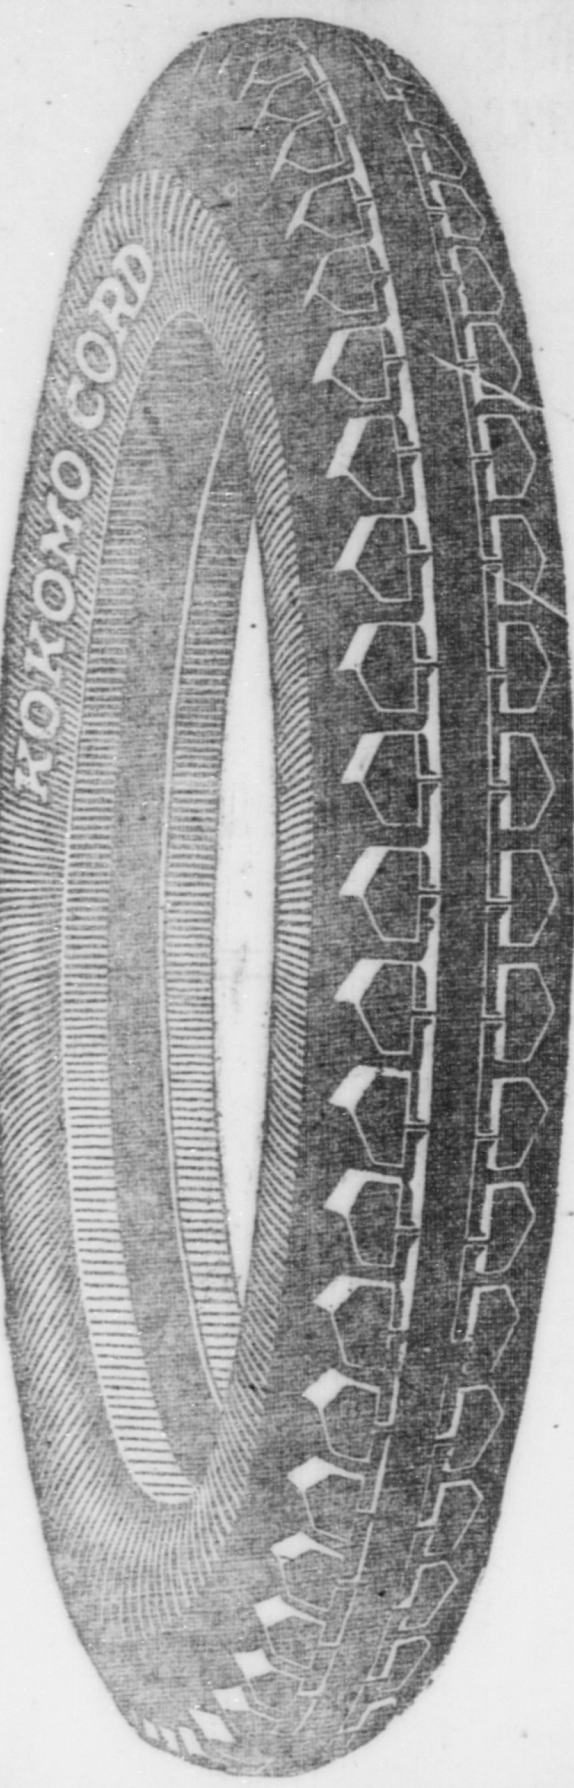

"When the question of maintenance is analyzed in detail it soon becomes evident what a great length of time it would take to complete the primary road system by the pay-as-you-go method of expenditure and this is assuming there would be no legislative diversion whatever from the funds which now are devoted to road purposes."

GREAT SUNDAY SCHOOL CAMPAIGN STARTED

Two Days' Conference Held Here
Discussed Plans For County's Christian Churches

The Christian Sunday Schools of Madison county had a conference Friday and Saturday at the First Christian church, Richmond. The conference was attended by all the preachers, superintendents and Christian Sunday School teachers of Madison county.

Miss Gilbert, the state Elementary Superintendent of Kentucky conducted the conference. Friday night, Miss Gilbert lectured on Qualifications of Sunday School Teachers and Presentation of Sunday School Lessons. Saturday morning, Miss Gilbert lectured at the Normal school assembly. Saturday afternoon she discussed the use of graded Sunday School lessons in preference to the uniform plan of lessons. The principle of graded lessons is now fully established. Small schools should become familiar with the graded plan. Miss Gilbert gave the following plan to the county Sunday School teachers:

The Elementary Division—The cradle roll, age from birth to 5 years; beginners, ages 4 and 5; primary, ages 6, 7 and 8; junior, ages 9, 10, 11, and 12.

The Secondary Division—Intermediate, ages 13 and 14; senior, 15, 16, and 17; young people, 18 to 24.

Adult Division—Ages 25 and over.

Home Department.
The Sunday Schools of Madison county are eager to develop Miss Gilbert's plan of organization.

Miss Mary Q. Covington, Elementary Superintendent of Madison county, presided at the conference and assisted Miss Gilbert. Miss Covington was assisted by several children. The children from various churches had charge of the program. They read scripture lessons, prayed and gave musical selections. Each county Sunday School should use this plan in developing the young people for Christian leadership.

The Christian Sunday School teachers of Madison county are being organized into a Madison County Sunday School Club. This club is planning to have frequent conferences for all the Sunday School teachers of the county. The next conference will be held some time in March. This will be visiting Sunday for the county teachers. They will assemble in small groups and visit various Sunday School classes in First Christian church, Richmond.

Madison county is just beginning a great religious campaign in Sunday School work. Madison county is challenging the call for better teachers, better Sunday School methods, and a greater number of children in the Sunday School. Are you helping Madison county to become the greatest religious center in Kentucky? Begin helping today.

OWNERS CAN'T TAKE BOOZE OUT OF BOND

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 31.—While the exact number is not on record, the prohibition office here today estimated that thirteen million gallons of Kentucky whisky will be affected by the Supreme Court ruling Monday that intoxicating liquors in government bonded warehouses cannot be withdrawn by the owners for their personal use. The ruling is said to make a wide distinction between private and bonded warehouses. Liquor in the former has been tax paid and in the owners' possession and can be removed under a previous ruling. Liquor, however, in bonded warehouses, is not tax paid and while its technical ownership may be established, no act of possession has been performed and it cannot be removed to a wholesale druggist for sale for purposes not prohibited.

MOTHER GAVE IT

Virginia Lady Suffered With Aches and Pains Until Mother Began Giving Her Cardui.

Dublin, Va.—Miss Mary Alice Aughett residing on Route 2, near here, recently told a visitor of her interesting experience with Cardui. Miss Aughett said: "I had been suffering for some time with painful... I was pale, didn't feel like going. Would just drag around, and couldn't rest to do any good. I would suffer once a month with my back, sides and head. My limbs would ache and I didn't know what to do, but I knew I must do something, for I didn't get well by letting it run on. My mother is a believer in Cardui, for she saw what it did for others as well as herself, so she began giving it to me. "It wasn't long before I saw a change. It was just what I needed. It regulated me. I began to eat and sleep, and the pain stopped. "Cardui is without doubt the best female tonic made, and I am glad I can recommend it to others." If suffering with symptoms such as Miss Aughett mentions or other ailments peculiar to women, why not begin Cardui at once? Its merit is well established by successful use for more than 40 years. Try Cardui! Your druggist

Dean Massie Declares He Believes In Evolution

Lexington, Jan. 31.—"God's word and God's work can never contradict each other, and men and women may believe in evolution and still be Christians," the Very Rev. Robert K. Massie said in his sermon on "God's Method of Creation" to a large congregation at Christ Church Cathedral Sunday morning. Dean Massie said he accepted the theory of evolution because he was "free to accept it and still be faithful in every way to Christian faith and profession." He said it was a noble thing that God made man with the design to have him achieve his own advancement and improvement, than if he made man so that no growth or development was possible.

CARLISLE BOY WINS BURLEY POOL ESSAY

Jasper B. Shannon, of the city schools of Carlisle, was awarded the $20 in gold as a first prize for the best essay in the contest conducted by the Burley Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association during the organization campaign, writers taking for the subject, "Why Father Should Sign the Tobacco Contract."

Alzada Thompson, of Carlisle, won the county prize of $5, and Fannie Steele Ross, of Carlisle, second prize of $2.50 for the county. Mary T. Simms, of St. Mary's, won first prize of $5 for Marion county and Florence Copper, of St. Mary's, second prize of $2.50 for that county. Clemmie Craigmyle, of Worthville, won first prize of $5 for Hughes, of Carrollton, second prize of $2.50. Marvin Vrie, 28 Clay street, Mt. Sterling, and Reginald Reynolds, West High street, Mt. Sterling, were winners of the first and second prizes in Montgomery county. In Pendleton county the winners were Bennie Wolfe, Route 3, Falmouth and Elizabeth Taylor, Butler.

None of the other counties in the district had enough entrants in the contest to qualify. The prizes were awarded by Chief of the Field Service Joseph Passomeneau and the judge who passed upon the essays was Prof. O. B. Jessness, University of Kentucky. The most artistic essay was contributed by little Miss Edith Vager, of LaGrange, grand daughter of Fred Stucky, of Ghent, one of the leaders and prominent figures in the former pools. It was beautifully illustrated and pleased all who had the privilege of inspecting it.

The Ohio prize of $10 was won by Amber Tweed, of Ripley, Brown county, a student in the Ripley public school. The essay which landed the $20 in gold follows:

"The first reason my father should join the association is that it is a farm organization, organized by farmers, operated by farmers, and used for the farmers' benefit.

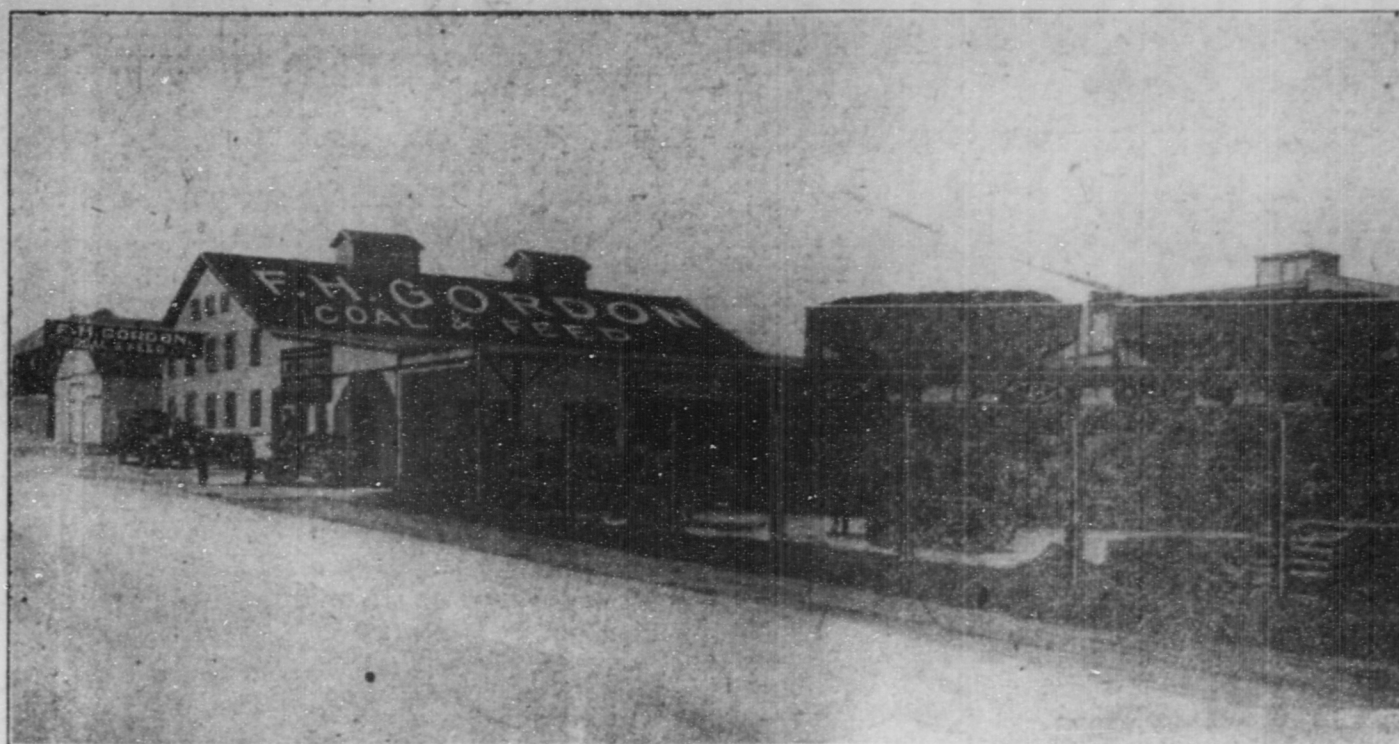

"The second reason is that labor is organized, business is organized and everyone else but the farmer is organized. Why should the farmers not organize? The third reason is that matters could not be any worse. The farmer is selling his tobacco at starvation prices and buying other things at war-time prices. This cannot last forever, for the banker cannot lend money without prospect of payment. It has come to the point where the farmers will either have to stick together or starve separately.

"The fourth reason is that the farmer blamed everyone last year because he didn't get a fair price for his tobacco. All the good it did was to relieve him of his sentiments. "With seventy-five per cent of the tobacco growers organized, the buyers will never dare antagonize the organization, and the farmers' opinions will then amount to something besides hot air. For years the farmer has been compelled to take what was offered him. This plan will place him in a position to force buyers to pay what he wants. "Father, think what this means to you and your family. It means fair recompense for your labor, better clothes and more freedom for your wife and an education for your children.

"The grape growers of California and the wheat growers of the western states have put thru organizations of this kind and made successes of them. Why shouldn't the tobacco growers of the southern states make a success of it, also? It is a democratic body, in which everyone has the same power—tenant and landlord alike. So my father should join other fathers in making this a success. Remember, 'The Lord helps them that help themselves.'"
